Big Battle Over English Channel

150 Planes Participate In Air Combat

SPITFIRES BREAK NAZI FORMATIONS

Bombers Dive Into Sea With Tails Up: Several Killed In Coastal Raids

LONDON, July 10.

At least five planes are believed to have been shot down in to-day's biggest air battle which occurred over the Channel. About 30 German bombers escorted by fighters were engaged.

FORMATIONS BROKEN

Guns and fighters broke up the formations and sent the enemy scurrying. Their fighter escort remained to engage the spitfires, whose pilots manoeuvred so as to circle the Germans.

NAZI BOMBS MISS THEIR MARK

As the bombers flew over, they released several salvoes of bombs which fell wide of the mark. Anti-aircraft guns barked and fighters roared up to attack. As the fighter drove off the bombers, the Nazi fighter escort, which had been hiding in the clouds above dived firing with machineguns.

Other British Spitfires went up and circled behind the Germans driving them away after a sharp engagement. The planes appeared all over the sky and anti-aircraft guns for several miles round were in action. An unidentified plane fell and it is believed to have crashed.

150 Planes Engaged

A correspondent on the south coast telephones that at least ten planes were seen to crash into the sea in this afternoon's big air battle in which it is estimated that 150 planes were engaged.

Three bombers were shot down by Spitfires in less than three minutes, all falling in vertical dives into the water. Another machine had its tail shot off and a bomber and fighter collided in midair.

One fighter dived vertically into the sea after receiving a burst of fire into its tail and several badly damaged raiders with smoke pouring from tails turned back towards the French coast, but seemed unlikely to get home.

Nazi Planes Put To Flight

An attack on a convoy off the South-coast and an air-battle, which followed was in two phases, says Reuter's correspondent, who witnessed the battle from clifftops. The first bombardment was delivered by a fleet of 15 German bombers who dived in the face of an intense barrage of anti-aircraft gunfire from escort vessels and rained a shower of high explosive bombs on the convoy. No hits appear to have been scored and the raiders driven off by R.A.F. fighters.

The second phase of the attack on the convoy developed ten minutes later, when a formation of 30 Nazi bombers were seen flying down the Channel at a height of 10,000 feet. They released several salvoes of bombs, which fell near the convoy. Fighter planes appeared in every part of the sky, R.A.F. contingents attacking German fighter escorts, which were also subjected to anti-aircraft gunfire along several miles of the coast.

After sharp exchanges of machine-gun fire the Germans broke off the engagement and fled across the Channel after an unidentified plane had fallen in flames.—Reuter.

Dangerous Waters

LONDON, July 10.

The Admiralty has given notice that water between the Orkneys and Iceland and Iceland and Greenland are dangerous owing to mines.—Reuter

Confused Series Of Engagements

The Air Ministry stated: "In to-day's confused series of engagements, it is difficult to assess enemy casualties accurately at this stage, but it is known ten enemy aircraft have been shot down and the destruction of a number of others has been reported but not yet confirmed."

On inquiry at the Ministry of Home Security, it is understood, bombs were dropped during the morning and early afternoon to-day at a number of points on the South and South-west Coasts and in South Wales. The damage resulting from these raids was not great and the casualties are not serious.—F

Raider Shot Down

Several lives were lost and damage caused in this morning's raid on the Channel Coast. Enemy plane flew low and dropped bombs on residential district.

It is believed several people were also killed in a raid on a Welsh town where, it is understood, anti-aircraft guns shot down one raider.

Off Eastcoast

It is officially announced that a Dornier 17 was shot down by Spitfires off the east coast early to-day. It is also disclosed that yesterday's German losses totalled nine.

Spitfires Fight Heinkels

People in south-west England last night watched three Spitfires fight eight Heinkels. Two Heinkels are believed to have been brought down and the rest put to flight.

Houses Hit And Civilians Killed

An Air Ministry 'communique' says: "This morning enemy aircraft dropped bombs on two towns on the Channel Coast, near Bristol Channel and on a Norfolk coast village. No military damage was caused in any area. Some houses were hit and there was a small number of casualties including a few civilians killed on the south coast.—Reuter.

Under Nazi Heels

Occupied Areas Robbed Of Resources For Use Of War Machine

LONDON, July 10.

Evidence continues to reach London of severe hardships. All in German-occupied territory are suffering and it is thought they continue to an appreciable extent as a result of the Nazi regime.

Raw materials accumulated over a considerable period in these territories are being systematically seized and transferred to Germany for the use of its war machine.

It is learned great many industries are not permitted to manufacture goods without Germany's consent. Harvest prospects are poor throughout Europe, partly owing to the severity of the last winter and partly to devastation caused by the invading German forces.—Reuter.

It is considered likely Sir T. B. Sapru will represent the views of the Liberal Party in India regarding the question of expansion of the Central Executive.

According to rumours here, he might even be asked to join the Central Cabinet.

10,000 Million Dollars For U. S. Rearmament

WASHINGTON, July 10.

President Roosevelt in a special message to-day asked the Congress to authorise additional 4848 million dollars for defence.

The President declared: "We will not use our arms in a war of aggression. We will not send our men to take part in European wars. So great a sum means sacrifice. So great a programme means hard work—participation of the whole country in the total defence of the country."

The President's new request brings the total amount he has asked from the Congress this session for rearmament to approximately 10,000 million dollars.—Reuter.

Rout Of Italian Fleet In Mediterranean

Action Which Soon Developed Into A Chase

LONDON, July 10.

An Admiralty Communique states:— "As announced earlier, action which quickly developed into a chase of Italian ships, took place between the British and Italian naval forces in the Mediterranean.

NO BRITISH CASUALTIES

The Commander-in-Chief has informed the Admiralty that there are no casualties among our ships engaged. In the absence of confirmation to the contrary it must be assumed that the enemy naval forces, at least one unit, suffered heavily.

ITALIAN CASUALTIES

According to an Italian 'communique' the casualties in the Mediterranean engagement are 29 killed and 69 injured. One of their destroyers was sunk, but its crew is safe.

ITALIAN FLEET AFRAID TO FIGHT

An Admiralty 'communique' issued on Tuesday stated:

"During the course of operations in the central Mediterranean east of Malta, the Commander-in-Chief of the Mediterranean reported this afternoon that he had made contact with enemy forces consisting of two battleships, a number of eight-inch and six-inch gun cruisers and destroyers.

Almost immediately after contact was gained, the enemy retired behind a smoke screen laid by a third destroyer, but before the enemy was obscured one hit at an extreme range was obtained by one of our capital ships on an Italian battleship.

At the time of receipt of this information, the enemy were being pursued.

"Enemy ships were also attacked by our fleet air arm. No other details are yet available.

Sweep From Gibraltar

Simultaneously with the operation in the Central Mediterranean, another force based on Gibraltar carried out a sweep towards the Central Mediterranean. Reuter.

This latter force reports that four enemy Air Craft were destroyed and seven others damaged of which three are not likely to return to their base; but no surface forces were encountered."—

No Truth In Report

Soviet Ultimatum Story Denied By Turkish Ambassador

ATHENS July 10.

Referring to rumours that Soviet Russia had sent an ultimatum to Turkey demanding control of the Dardanelles, the Turkish Ambassador in Athens told "Reuter": "I know nothing about such reports and I do not believe them. I am certain I should have heard about such serious news if it were true." —Reuter.

An earlier report stated:

Well-informed Turkish and Soviet circles in London know nothing of the reported Soviet ultimatum to Turkey, demanding control of the Dardanelles. The report emanated from New York and Athens.

R. A. F. RAIDS

LONDON, July 10.

An Air Ministry 'communique' states:—

"Last night R.A.F. bombers attacked Naval dockyards in Wilhelmshaven and Bremen, goods yards in Ruhr, oil refineries at Monheim, aerodromes at Borkum, Texelschipol and Waalhaven.

Damage was done to all these objectives. All our aircraft have returned safely.

11 ENEMY AIRCRAFT SHOT DOWN

During the day, enemy bombers escorted by fighters carried out attacks on our shipping and coasts.

Information so far received shows that in to-day's engagements our fighters shot down eleven enemy aircraft, three of which were bombers.

There is reason to believe that many more have been seriously damaged. In to-day's operations two of our fighters were lost in action with the enemy. Yesterday three of our fighters were lost.—Reuter.

Price That Will Add To Britain's Glory

RAJAJI EXPLAINS DELHI RESOLUTION

Princes And Plutocrats Can't Give What Congress Alone Can Bring About

"It was a great decision, but has been taken. It is for Britain to consider whether it is worthwhile to get a free India when she has lost France, although seemingly. We ask for a big price. The price will add to Britain's glory and not substract from her prestige."

THUS SAYS MR. C. RAJAGOPALACHARI IN THE COURSE OF A STATEMENT ON THE DELHI RESOLUTION OF THE CONGRESS WORKING COMMITTEE.

TEXT OF STATEMENT

WARDHAGANJ, July 10

Mr. Rajagopalachariar who left for Madras today made the following statement to the Associated Press on the Working Committee's resolution.

"The Princes, who have accumulated funds and whose subjects have no voice in the affairs of State may give money—without any conditions. Commercial Magnates and others, who have made money, may also part with their possessions in the British Government's favour without any difficulty. But the Congress can give a lead to the Indian people and organise the co-operation that has hitherto been denied, only if it is enabled to do so by a change in political conditions in the country.

No other help can be as good as that co-operation, which the Congress alone can bring about. It would be folly for England to refuse now to do what, in effect she has often expressed her readiness to do, namey, to release India from the position of dependency and recognise the politi- independence of the Indian people as the fundamental basis for all future relations.

"This will enable the Congress to ask the people of India to put their heart and soul into military preparations that are going on. The Congress can ask the people to make this their condition stated in the Congress resolution. It was not easy to decide to take a path, which was different from the innermost yearnings of one, who had been the Guide, Philosopher and Friend of the Congress all these twenty years.

It was a great decision, but has been taken. It is for Britain to consider, whether it is worthwhile to get a Free India when she has lost France although seemingly. We ask for a big price. The price will add to Britain's glory and not subtract from her prestige.

Those who read the Congress resolution in anger, will not see its essence. The spirit of friendship and voluntary alliance that is contained in it can be seen only if a disinterested mind is brought to bear on it."—A. P.

EXPANSION OF DEFENCE FORCES

What Is Being Done In Army, Navy And Air Force

Following are excerpts from the broadcast on 'India's war effort' by Maj.-Gen. Molesworth:—

The entry of Italy into the war and the abrupt spread of the conflict to the Mediterranean, have brought the danger with measurable distance of India's gateways.

This country's war effort can already be fairly described as gaining in momentum every day.

Already our ordnance and supplementary supply have been brought in the first eight months of war to a quantum of production materially in excess of the peak reached after three years of war in 1914-18.

Naval Expansion

The Royal Indian Navy, reinforced at the outbreak of war by the requisitioning of merchant ships, which were manned and equipped for minesweeping and anti-submarine patrol, embarked on the immediate increase of Navy personnel by nearly 200 per cent.

Naval training establishments in Bombay and Karachi were increased to cope up with this expansion. A new school for training 400 boys will make possible still greater expansion as more vessels, now to be constructed in India, become available.

Stronger Army

The Army in India, by the reinforcement of regular units, the embodiment of territorials, the raising of garrison companies and the acceptance for service of units of the Indian State forces, is now, before the new expansion programme is implemented, far stronger than it was at the outbreak of war.

Air Force Expansion

The air authorities in India are being notably active. The necessary quota of pilots and ground staff are even now being selected to implement the quadrupling of the Indian Air Force previously announced. The necessary training establishments at Lahore and Ambala are being expanded and extra recruitment is also going on for the Royal Air Force.

DEFAMATION SUITS AGAINST ATRE

Congress Councillors vs. Their Leader

(From Our Correspondent).
POONA, July 9.

The dissensions in the Congress Municipal Party which resulted recently in the expulsion from the party of 15 of its members, had a further sequel when, fourteen out of these fifteen members lodged complaints of alleged defamation against Prin. P. K. Atre, the leader of the Congress Party in the municipality.

Prin. Atre, who is editor of the weekly "Navayug", strongly criticised the conduct of these 15 members in the issue of his paper dated 7th inst. The members were described in the article as having stabbed the party in the back and having proved untrue to their salt.

The fifteenth member, who is now, out of Poona, is also reported to be joining his colleagues in filing a complaint in respect of the same publication.

Names of Prin. Atre's assistants in 'Navyug' and proprietor of the press where the paper is printed have also been mentioned in the complaints, all the 14 of which have been filed in the court of First Class Magistrate.

MINIMUM AGE LIMIT FOR VOLUNTEERS TO CIVIC GUARDS

BOMBAY, Wednesday.

Some misunderstanding seems to have been created in the minds of the public by the report which appeared in a leaderette in the "Times of India" of the 25th which stated that the minimum age limit for joining the Bombay Civic Guards is 20.

25 to 55 is the age limit and therefore, many applicants having the necessary qualifications but under 25 had to be rejected during the selections.

50 men were examined at the K. E. M. Hospital, to-day, and a hundred more at St. George's Hospital to-morrow.

Issues Clarified Satisfactorily

Savarkar On Talks With Viceroy: Congress Proposal Deprecated

Mr. V. D. Savarkar, President of the Hindu Mahasabha, who was invited by the Viceroy for an interview told pressmen this morning that the interview was "in the main frank, considerate and impartial so far as could be expected in the present circumstances."

Negotiations were still in progress, he said, and further definite conclusions were expected to be reached within a week or so. That was why Mr. Savarkar had decided not to convene a meeting of the Working Committee of the Hindu Mahasabha immediately, but to wait for a fortnight.

"The only statement I can make as far as the public is concerned", added Mr Savarkar, "is that during the interview with the Viceroy some points were clarified by His Excellency to the satisfaction of the Hindu Mahasabha while some others still remain to be clarified."

He further remarked that he had so far not disclosed any definite details of his talks with the Viceroy for the obvious reason that such interviews were always understood to be confidential and he was sorry that some journals should have published reports based on hearsay.

IMMEDIATE STEP.

Commenting on the Congress Working Committee's resolution, Mr. Savarkar said that while the ultimate goal of the Congress and that of the Mahasabha were the same, namely independence, he failed to understand the suggestion contained in the Congress Working Committee's resolution to form a National Government as an immediate step.

This, he regarded, was less progressive than the Sabha's demand that India should be granted Dominion Status immediately on the cessation of the war. He also objected to the formation of any "National Government" if it was to be formed from among the members of the Central Assembly as at present constituted.

A Government to be truly national should be formed by putting together representatives of all parties in the land and for that purpose a fresh election would have to be held on the issues at present facing the country.

Mr. Savarkar and Sir Sikander Hyat Khan, the Premier of Punjab, had a long discussion in Simla on the various problems confronting the country, especially the sommunal situation.—A. P.

Football

B. B. AND C. I. BEATEN

The Welch Regiment continued on their winning-way on Wednesday in the First Division of the Harwood League. In this encounter they beat the B. B. and C. I. by four goals to nil. The soldiers were definitely the better side, but the B. B. and C. I. kept the military out till the interval. This was as much as they could do, for, after half-time the Railway who defending almost the full thirty minutes and conceded four goals.

The B. B. and C. I. roused themselves to a degree and the exchanges were more shared. The Railway failed to maintain this improvement and the Regiment were "top dogs" again. In the 26th minute Stone missed an opportunity that should have made the Welch one up.

In the last minutes of the half the Railway were decidedly unfortunate when Clarke, the inside left, putting in a hot shot from a few yards out, saw his effort strike the left upright. A little later McHugh saw a good long shot go over the bar.

The period closed with the Welch in the B. B. and C. I. area.

WELCH SCORE FOUR.

The second spell opened with a raid by the Regiment. Pressure was maintained and five minutes after resumption, a nice movement ended in Moore giving Hill possession well up in the goalmouth, the latter smashed the ball in. This gave Bingham, in goal, not a jot of a chance. Hill should have increased the soldiers' tally immediately after. Bingham faultily fielded a strong shot, but retrieved the ball a fraction of an inch from the goal line.

The Railway were solely concerned with trying to keep out their opponents, but this task was found impossible. With fourteen minutes to go a Langton Stone Hill affair ended in the last named registering goal No. 2. From the kick-off the Welch returned. A nice movement got them well up, when Hill gave it to Richards, the centre-forward, who put it into the corner of the net, well out of Bingham's reach.

Three minutes later the Regiment completed their tally through Hill, who scored from an opening created by Moore.

The one and only chance to score the Railway had in the late period came in the closing stages. McHugh wasted this.

The Welch remained the aggressors but closed with a clear four-goals' advantage.

The teams were:

WELCH REGIMENT:—Williams; James and Brady; Neasey, Evans and Bailey; Stone, Hill, Richards, Moore and Langton.

B. B. AND C. I. RAILWAY:—Bingham; Easdon and Nash; Dadoo, de Mellow and Mulleneaux; Woodcock, Loveday, McHugh, Clarke and Dyson.

SALES TAX ON PETROL MUST GO

Motorists' Demand: Sequel To Prohibition Debacle

The annual general meeting of the Western India Automobile Association was held on Tuesday in the air-conditioned room of the B. E. S. and T. Co., Ltd., Bombay.

The President, Mr. Nur Mahomed Chinoy made a short speech in the course of which he said that in spite of the war conditions, the Association's services were not only maintained but were also improved and extended in many respects.

Mr. Chinoy took advantage of the occasion to reiterate the Association's conviction that speed was neither the sole nor the most important of the various factors which contributed to an accident.

SOARING PRICE OF PETROL

Proceeding, the Chairman referred to the abnormal increase in the selling price of petrol which is already the most highly taxed of essential commodities of every-day use in the country and expressed the hope that in deciding upon the future policy in regard to this vital commodity, the authorities would take into consideration the interests of the consumer. Since Government have given the go-by to their prohibition policy, there was no reason for the continuance of the Sales Tax on Petrol as the tax was introduced only to make up the loss in revenue caused by prohibition. He strongly urged on Government to remove the Sales Tax on Petrol forthwith.

In conclusion, Mr. Chinoy explained how motorists could assist the authorities in their war efforts and stated that in collaboration with Government, the Association had worked out a scheme for a motorised section of the Civic Guards. He appealed to members to enrol themselves as members of the Motorised Civic Guards and thus contribute their mite to assist the authorities in their fight against Hitlerism.

As the Committee election was uncontested, the President put the name of Messrs. H. E. Ormerod, S. Guevrek, J. M. Kamdar, S. N. C. Patuck and J. J. J. Cursetji to vote and they were re-elected unanimously.

Mr. Russa Mehta, in a short speech, deplored the insufficient response to the motorised Civic Guards and suggested that if the corps could be established on the same footing as the Light Motor Patrol, so far as Governmental facilities were concerned, there was no doubt that the response would be far greater than what it was now.

Mr. Russa Mehta recommended to the Committee that steps should be taken to perpetuate in some form Mr. Ormerod's valuable services to the Association.

Peter's Progress

A TRUE STORY BY GLAXO

SYNOPSIS:—Soon after Peter was born he had a serious illness. Worse, his mother was unable to feed him herself. He went straight on to Glaxo. Speedily he turned the corner; came triumphantly through teething, and grew into the sturdiest little fellow imaginable. In the last instalment we showed Peter the horseman and it was soon evident that Peter was going to be an all-round athlete! In the accompanying "Glaxo-snap" we show Peter—then a sturdy three year old—with his football.

CHAPTER VII. PETER THE ATHLETE

Peter was never happier than when playing and romping with his little friends. They liked best to play "touch", but when Peter had his new football, this soon became the favourite game.

How Peter's sturdy little legs twinkled! He would beat the opposition time and again!

Nothing delighted Peter more than to score—he was the terror of the other side!

Peter's mother would proudly watch him at play. "What a sturdy kiddy Peter is", friends would say, and his mother would smile quietly, and be doubly grateful for Glaxo.

Thousands of boys and girls the world over are growing up strong and sturdy as a result of Glaxo feeding. Every baby who cannot be breast-fed should be put straight on to this fine infant food. When baby grows older, try using Glaxo in puddings, too—it's delicious and nourishing, and you are certain that you are getting fresh pure milk.

CONGRESS AND ITS CRITICS

There is little common between the Muslim League and the Hindu Mahasabha except that they are both communal bodies and as such denounce a national body like the Congress. It is not easy for them to oppose the latest resolution of the Working Committee which demands a Declaration of Independence and a Central Government enjoying the confidence of the elected members of the Legislature. For both the League and the Mahasabha protest that independence is their goal and the principle that the executive should enjoy the confidence of a popular legislature is the first essential of a national democratic Government. Yet the League and the Mahasabha must find something in the Congress to peck at. Both, therefore, oppose the Congress demand for a National Government in the above democratic sense, though for different reasons. Mr. Jinnah reiterates his familiar objection that as the Hindus are in a permanent majority the democratic national Government demanded by the Congress must necessarily be a Hindu majority Government and it will necessarily be unacceptable to Muslims.

Jinnah's Fears

The first assumption may be conceded as the Hindus are in a large majority. But so long as the Congress is functioning as at present, the Hindu majority will not be unacceptable to the Muslim masses though it will be unacceptable to Muslim reactionaries and the Muslim League of the present day type. If the Muslim masses formulate a programme for themselves, it will be almost, if not entirely, like the present programme of the Congress, it being conceded by the latter that every important minority will have the right to have safeguards for its special interests formulated by itself. Those who support such a programme will form the majority. And the Government by such a majority will be unacceptable to those, both Hindu and Muslim, who do not relish a democratic programme. Mr. Jinnah knows this but too well. That is why he is afraid of democracy. That is also why he seeks to divert the attention of the Muslims from democracy by raising communal cries and bogeys. As regards his latest fantasy of Pakistan, it has yet to be approved by the accredited representatives of Muslims in the legislatures.

Savarkar's Inconsistencies

Mr. Savarkar, too, pecks at the Working Committee's resolution. He says that "the suggestion contained in the Congress Working Committee's resolution to form a national government as an immediate step was less progressive than the Sabha's demand that India should be granted Dominion Status immediately on the cessation of the war." It is not fair to compare the immediate demand of the Congress and the demand of the Mahasabha to be implemented after the war. Compare the demands of both the bodies to take effect after the war. And let Mr. Savarkar himself say which is less. However, we would welcome the prospect of the Mahasabha demanding more than the Congress at any time. As regards the immediate demand, Mr. Savarkar objects to the Congress proposal for the formation of a national government if such a government is to be formed from among the members of the Legislative Assembly as at present constituted. In his opinion the elected members of the present Assembly do not command the confidence of the Hindu Mahasabha or "Hindudom" as a whole. At the same time he protests that the Congress Party members in the Legislature were elected by the Hindu electorate and were therefore not national representatives. We fear that Mr. Savarkar's desire to attack the Congress right and left leads him into inconsistencies without his being conscious of them. If the Congress does not represent "Hindudom" as well as nationalist India, on whose behalf did it sweep the poll at the last elections and administer seven provinces? If Mr. Savarkar wishes that the Central Legislature should be re-elected, the Congress would not object. It is, of course, understood that Congress will agree to form a National Government only if a Declaration of Independence is made now.

Co-Operative Movement

(By A Special Correspondent)

The co-operative movement started in India in 1904 and after some years of careful nursing may be said to have taken a firm root in the soil by about 1910. It is, therefore, natural that any number of co-operative societies should be holding their jubilee celebrations by this time. Yet a silver jubilee of a co-operative society is an important occasion. Not all the societies that were started in the early years of the movement lived to come of age. Many were of the type of mushrooms which have but a brief existence. Whenever the Co-operative Department took a hand at pruning, described as consolidation and rectification in official parlance, numbers perished. Again, the weaker growths had a hard time of it during the last ten years of economic depression, during which period the casualties have been particularly heavy. The flood has left but a few of the early societies high and dry, though there may be many, still carrying on a sort of moribund existence. But the "D" class battalion do not celebrate jubilees. A society which has lived a useful life of 25 years, which has weathered the worst of economic depressions continuously for ten years, which has survived or has been immune from man-made crises such as frauds and mismanagement, as distinguished from depressions, floods and famines which is the work of nature, has really something instructive to teach. To this category belongs the Brahmavar Co-operative Society in South Kanara District which recently celebrated its Silver Jubilee. The Society was started in 1915 and has been fortunate in having the uninterrupted services of office-bearers for long periods. This is in striking contrast to the practice, in some parts of our province, where the election bosses delight in bringing in a new man every year. With good men at its helm it was not difficult for the society to command the confidence of the well-to-do people in the village and the society has been carrying on with the help of local deposits only, though the rate of interest does not exceed 5 per cent without any loan from the central bank. Creditable as the achievement is, we must admit, that on the general question of acceptance of non-members' deposits by rural primaries, much can be said on both sides.

According to the latest audit memo the position of the society was as follows:—

(1) Membership, 180; (2) Share Capital Rs. 3,346; (3) Deposits Rs. 20,349; (4) Reserve Fund Rs. 10,371; (5) Loans: Rs. 21,943 (of which overdue loans come to Rs. 4,247); (6) Profits: Rs. 363.

Like any good credit society, the Brahmavar Society has gradually been extending its sphere of activity. It has started giving loans against produce and has put down as the next item in its time table the question of organising the sale of its members' produce on co-operative lines. A good co-operative society is a blessing to the village and has as important a role in its life as the village temple or mosque and the village school. Out of its common good fund the Brahmavar Society has constructed a building for the village school and runs a reading room and a club.

*

The Bombay Provincial Co-operative Land Mortgage Bank has issued a new series of debentures of Rs. 10 lakhs, the first series of Rs. 20 lakhs having been long since used up in its business. These debentures, like its predecessors, are fully guaranteed as both principle and interest by Government and are recognised as trustee securities. The debentures are issued at Rs. 98-8-0 and are redeemable after 10-15 years. These terms are more attractive than those on which the sister land mortgage bank at Madras has been able to float its debentures. The latter bear the same rate of interest but are issued at par and are for a period of 10-20 years. However that be, the debentures offer a safe and sound investment and it is hoped that the issue will be fully subscribed before long.

A Judge Forgets Himself

By D. F. KARAKA

The Bench, wherever it is, has always been looked upon with respect. English judges when imported here have continued to live up to a tradition they have built up for themselves which demands that they retain in their utterances a sense of dignity, and fairness. It is, therefore, with disappointment that one reads the unnecessary obiter dicta of Mr. Justice Reilly, a judge of the Mysore Court, in a matter connected with the disenrolling of Mr. H. C. Dasappa, precluding him from practicing in any Court in the Mysore State. Let us first examine the Judge's statement.

"Among other things, His Lordship observed, it would be an evil day for any country wherein morality was divorced from politics. In the present case, the respondent's professions and practice were different. It was surprising that an Advocate of this court should preside over a meeting of the Working Committee of a political body which passed a resolution questioning the impartiality of an honourable judge of this court appointed by the Government to inquire into the alleged police excesses which allegations have neither been substantiated nor withdrawn. And such people wanted responsible Government. The Judge's personal view was that a kind Government could have no chance of success in any country. In this country truth has been degraded to the level of catchwords. It is said, indeed, for an Advocate of this Court to allow himself to be deprived of moral standards. The Judge could not accept the excuse offered by the respondent that he along with his colleagues took the advice of an outsider and acted accordingly. No advocate of this Court could subordinate his conscience to an outsider. Concluding the Judge said that he considered such a man who had debased his morals ought not to be allowed to associate with members of the honourable legal profession and he was, therefore, unfit to continue as Advocate of this Court or any other in this State."

It is not my business to examine the merits of Mr. Dassappa's case, but the greater question is: Has not the judge who has made this preposterous statement gone out of his way to make generalisations about this country which are ungallant untrue and grossly impolite? Truth, he says, has been degraded in this country to the level of catchwords. The utterance is disgusting. And what one resents is that individuals holding positions in courts of law in an Indian State, should be allowed to make public utterances of this kind without action being taken against them. There must be some section (or some Ordinance) which should forbid such gross disregard of Indian public feeling and public feeling of this country has on occasions like this a right to protection.

Sir D'Arcy goes on to say: "No Advocate of this Court could subordinate his conscience to an outsider." The people of the States are fighting to-day for the freedom of conscience. Their lives, their opinions, their thoughts have too long been subordinate to the will of the ruler and the ruling class. That is why Indian States are anachronisms in our midst.

Sir D'Arcy's whole statement makes sorry reading. I doubt very much if his contemporaries at the Bar and on the Bench in other Courts of India will feel proud of a judge (whatever the Court) who is capable of such an utterance. That is why we still have faith in our judges.

Planned Education

The resolutions of the National Planning Committee on National Education indicate the almost encyclopaedic character of the Committee's work. They are also sound in principle and deserve to be seriously considered by educationists and educational authorities. They concern themselves mainly with what is now known as Basic education or the Wardha Scheme. The Committee gives general support to the essential principles of the Scheme but suggest some important modifications in details. Thus while the Wardha Scheme prescribes a course of seven years; centring throughout round a basic craft, the Committee suggests that "the first five years of the basic course should centre round a basic craft", implying that thereafter the course need not be strictly bound up with a craft.

We wholeheartedly approve of the change because it will enable the teacher to do justice to the comprehensive literary course prescribed for the last two years by the Zakir Husain Committee. This is doubtless a serious loss from the point of view of making the scheme self-supporting to any appreciable extent, because the change would prevent the children from turning out at school articles for sale at the very time they are old and trained enough to do so. But we have always adhered to the view that instruction in crafts should be educative and should not be continued after the child has acquired the necessary general manual training and special training in any particular craft. For to continue routine craft work after that stage is not training but exploiting children so as to make them pay for their education. A fairer way to recover the cost of education is to tax the public. Referring to the courses of study, the Planning Committee suggests that "the syllabus prepared by the Zakir Husain Committee should be generally accepted as the tentative syllabus." Now this syllabus prescribes 3 hours and 20 minutes for craft work and its theory out of the 5½ hours at school. We repeat our suggestion that not more than two hours a day should be devoted to crafts and their theory. We understand that in the schools where Basic education is being tried as an experiment in certain selected areas in our province only two hours are devoted to crafts. It is to be hoped this period will not be extended.

Among the bolder and more original recommendations of the Committee are those about pre-Basic education and compulsory social service. The Committee strongly pleads for a two years' pre-Basic course to be adopted on an extensive scale without making it compulsory. But realising the difficulty of ensuring this reform in the near future in the absence of trained teachers and funds, the Committee suggests that at least a good beginning should be made in this direction with the joint efforts of Government, local bodies and the public. Much bolder is the Committee's recommendation that "a system of Compulsory Social or Labour Service should be established, so as to make every young man and woman contribute one year of his or her life, between the ages of 18 and 22, to national disciplined service in such form and place, and under such conditions, as the State may prescribe in that behalf." The service is to be on works of national utility, including agriculture, industry, public utility service and nation-building activities of all kinds and it is to be so designed as to promote "habits of teamwork, mutual and co-operative labour, co-ordinated activity and physical endurance". We wholeheartedly command the suggestion which, we are sure, can be so carried out as to benefit both the workers and the public. Compulsory Social Service will be of the utmost use in promoting adult literacy and general rural uplift.

First LL. B.

To The Editor of "The Chronicle"

Sir,—The University of Bombay has decided not to hold any more examination for First LL.B. (Old Course) after April 1940 and for Second LL.B. after April 1941.

In spite of the liberal results, as many as 330 students have failed this year. On account of the last chance given by the authorities, many old and new graduates kept term for old course.

As the full time college commenced its work only last year in Sind, we requested the authorities to extend its course at least for one term, but the authorities were not in a mood to listen and they turned down our proposal.

They granted a concession that students who have kept their term for old course can appear in the new course exam without keeping term. This is no concession at all. There are many difficulties for the students who have joined the course considering it as part time. They will have to give up their jobs to complete their degree next year. Moreover many students have simultaneously kept their term for M.A. They are not allowed to keep terms for both the courses according to new rules. Exemptions in various subjects will not also be available, as they cannot hold any exemptions under new rules.

Authorities will, no doubt, realize the lot of inconvenience and trouble to which the unsuccessful students would be put if a term is not extended to enable them to complete their studies. If a supplementary is held and a term for Second LL.B. granted after April 1941, with the number of students who would avail themselves of the opportunity, I am sure, the authorities will not find it a costly proposition to hold supplementary examinations for old course.

I request the members of the Senate to consider this legitimate demand of the students and grant one supplementary and to extend the old course for Second LL.B. for one term after April 1941. This will be a boon for the students.—Yours, etc.,

K. T. DOSHI.

Refugee Children

To The Editor of "The Chronicle".

Sir,—It has been reported that the War Cabinet in London has approved of a large scale plan to evacuate the children of Britain to the Dominions. Children are expected to go almost immediately to Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

Here is a golden opportunity for purely humanitarian work which India should not miss. Every Indian, to whatever community or political party he may belong, would very willingly agree to contribute something towards this noble purpose in which no political principles are involved. The Government of India, I am sure, will not find public support lacking if they prepare a scheme for accommodating in India women and children temporarily evacuated from Britain. Arrangements can then be made with His Majesty's Government.—Yours, etc.

FRANKLY SPEAKING

The Balkan Situation

The Axis Powers will do everything possible to avoid trouble in the Balkans. That explains the resignation of Iron Guard Ministers in Rumania and the visit of Hungarian statesmen to Berlin. Hungary finds this the best opportunity of pressing home her claims to Transylvania but she can do nothing without the permission of the Axis Dictators who are opposed to any aggressive move by Hungary. Mm. Teleki and Csaky have gone to Berlin personally to plead their case to the Fuehrer. But they will fail. The resignation of Iron Guard Ministers in Rumania is obviously due to the fact that they are too anti-Russian and too Nazi for the present purposes of Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy. As to the Bulgarian demands and the manoeuvres of the Russian fleet, Russia wants to take advantage of the Axis Powers' present policy and secure Dobrudja, for her protege by threats hoping that the Germans and Italians would compel Rumania to yield. But if Rumania were to elect to fight, the Russians, we believe, would pull up Bulgaria. For Russia, too, does not want to precipitate a crisis in the Balkans which may eventually lead her into a conflict with the Axis.

The Greatest Tragedy

How the French Parliament—both Senate and Chamber—as at present constituted could "agree" to a revision of the Constitution by Marshal Petain by such large majorities will only be known when the actual truth leaks out Meanwhile, the one and only vital fact of the situation is that Marshal Petain, assisted by M. Laval and others, has killed the Third Republic. Democratic France, with the historic motto of "Liberty, Equality and Fraternity," is to disappear and in its place is to appear an imitation Fascist France, a vassal of Germany and Italy. For France this fall is more tragic than the loss of the "Battle of France", and not only morally and spiritually so. If Marshal Petain expected by his subservience to win generous treatment from Germany and Italy the Press of the two countries has tried to disillusion him in very plain language. The net result is that the aged Marshal has surrendered his country both body and soul without even an apology for a price.

Interesting Revival

Here is a Tokio report dated Tuesday last:—

"The Soviet-Manchukuo border is still the scene of friction, according to a Domei message. It states that the Manchukuo Government have drawn the attention of the Soviet authorities to the recurrence of illegal Soviet acts, such as invasion of Manchukuo territory, illegal firing and kidnapping incidents."

Whether all these "illegal acts" are mere inventions or based on facts, the point of interest lies in the question: Why have the Japanese revived old quarrels after such a long period of quiet?

Possible Explanations

Two answers appear to be likely. The Japanese who are trying to liquidate the Chinese resistance quickly want to stop Soviet assistance also to Marshal Chiang-Kai-Shek, and they are hoping to put pressure upon Russia, through Russo-Manchukuan border incidents. But this method has never succeeded with the Soviet. The alternative explanation may be developments in the Balkans. Can it not be that on suggestion from her Axis friends Japan is trying to divert Russia's inconvenient attention from the South-East of Europe? Be that as it maey, Japanese pressure, in the meantime, is being maintained upon Britain in the matter of supplies to China. The latest move is a threat by the Tokyo radio that future relations between the two countries will depend upon British acceptance of Japanese demands. The Japanese are out to pick a quarrel with Britain or secure acceptance of their demands. Only America can stop them. And we doubt if she would in spite of the latest decision to keep the American fleet at Hawaii.

Everybody knows why Czechoslovakia was let down. Neither Britain nor France was sufficiently rearmed to tackle Hitler, who clearly meant business, while the French Government abandoned their treaty obligations to the Czechs and threw on the British Premier the onus of getting the best terms possible. The Junior Colleague flatly rejects this report. According to a broadcast by the very reliable Bombay Bazar Radio the whole of the Working Committee was put under arrest on Monday last at Delhi. Moreover, another bulletin issued by the B.B.R. later in the evening announced Jawaharlal's arrest again—presumably in the lock-up.

It is, therefore, obvious that the two members of the Working Committee could not have possibly come to Allahabad—unless, of course, in police custody.

India's Drug Needs

Chopra Committee's Hopeful Report

CALCUTTA, July 10.

If the required basic materials and chemicals are readily available, it is possible to produce in India all the drug requirements of the country.

This conclusion has been arrived at by the Medical Preparations Sub-Committee of the Indian Chemical Manufacturers' Association in their report, recently submitted to the Government of India, as to the possibilities of the development of the existing Drug and Chemical Manufacturing industry in this country.

The Sub-Committee was presided over by Lt.-Col. R. N. Chopra, Director of the School of Tropical Medicine and of the Bio-Chemical Standardisation Laboratory, Calcutta.

The Sub-Committee has drawn the attention of the Government to the necessity of close co-operation between the drug manufacturing concerns and hospitals.—A P.

Evacuation Of Children To Be Curtailed

LONDON, July 10.

It is learned to-day that the scheme for evacuation of British children overseas may be considerably curtailed or entirely postponed for the time being. Abandonment of the scheme, however, is not contemplated.

If it is necessary to curtail or postpone the Government's evacuation scheme, steps will also be taken to restrict private migration of children in order to avoid the possibility of class privilege.

Curtailment or postponement of the scheme is due mainly to shipping difficulties, although there are other considerations which the Cabinet now have under review.

The Ministry of Health announces that school children evacuated from London at the beginning of war to Brighton, Hove, Portslade, Southwick and Shoreham are being moved further inland on Sunday. They number 3,000. Government have decided to declare Eastbourne, Hastings, Bexhill, Rye and Urban districts of Nowhaven and Seaford to be evacuations areas.—Reuter.

BEVIN PLAN WORKS WELL

84-Hour Week For Munition Production: Women Too Have Place In It

NO COMPROMISE WITH HITLER

LONDON, July 10

In a speech in London Mr. Bevin said that he had asked munition workers to work 84 hours a week and "produce like hell" to maintain the optimum of production. It was to the credit of the men that they responded.

He had now worked out a system of rotation which would keep up the optimum production as long as they liked and at the same time give the men the necessary rest period.

WOMEN TOO CAN HELP

He was also organising a scheme wherein appeal would be made to married women, middle class women and women who had never been in factory, to come along and do a couple of days' work, thus allowing the ordinary workers to have rest. Arrangements had been made to utilise small establishments.

A bomb can knock a big place out as well as a little one and it is better not to have all your eggs in one basket.

Referring to the constitution of Government Mr. Bevin said; "I do not know what happened about Munich or before I came to office, but I know there is a task on now. In the darkest hour, when it looked as if not more than twenty per cent of our men would return from France, every Minister of the Government solemnly resolved to see it through to the end and not compromise with Herr Hitler. I have not witnessed any going back on that resolve. If I saw any weakness I would be the first to tell the country"

When I entered the Government I made up my mind not to settle with the Nazi regime. They would have to beat us to smithereens and then we would not settle. We mean it. I hope the country will mean it. Let it be said for the working classes that there is no evidence in Norway, Holland, France and Belgium that any part of the working class of any political party acted as "Fifth Columnists"—The latter came from higer up."—Reuter.

SIMLA, July 9.

It is understood that reports have been reaching Simla from various parts of the country testifying to the growing inconvenience arising from the shortage of metallic currency caused by the withdrawal of coin from circulation for purposes of hoarding either through ignorance or self-interest.

Suggestions have also been pouring in from many sources that, in order to provide a medium of exchange of lower value than the bank note of lowest denomination, (viz. Rs. 5) the precedent set in the last war of issuing notes of the value of Re. 1 and Rs. 2/8 should be followed.

Such suggestions are, it is believed, receiving the careful consideration of the Central Government.—A. P.

SLUMP IN COMMODITY PRICES

Mr. J. K. Mehta, Secretary, Indian Merchants' Chamber, in a letter addressed to The Secretary to the Government of India, Finance Department, says:—In order to restore confidence and to enable exporters and shippers to hold on to their stocks, my Committee had, in a telegram which they sent to the Government of India, Department of Commerce, on 28th June 1940, suggested the imperative necessity for instituting a scheme of Insurance for War Risks on land for commodities and manufactured goods. This will have a toning effect on prices and the present sagging tendency will be checked.

The slump in the commodity prices is also attributable to the difficulties experienced by merchants in the matter of credit facilities. In order that banks may be pursuaded to desist from restricting credit facilities, it is necessary that the Reserve Bank of India should afford to them greater re-discount facilities.

Government should also statutorily fix minimum lending rates for the various commodities; advances upto such minimum should be freely made available by the Reserve Bank through Scheduled banks in respect of such commodities.

CONSERVING MEDICAL SUPPLIES

SIMLA, July 10.

In order that steps may be taken to ensure that an adequate supply of all necessary drugs and chemicals for medical treatment and associated laboratory work is available in India, Government have been considering making a survey of manufacturing capacity within the country and of existing stocks of imported drugs and chemicals.

It is hoped that, with close co-operation on the part of all dealers, a full survey of the drug position in the country will be possible. Only by such co-operation can supplies be maintained, in these abnormal times.—A. P.

Dr. Gopichand Bhargava in the course of a statement on the press communique issued recently by the Punjab Government in regard to the arrests of a number of political leaders and workers, says:

"Leaders have been arrested because it is alleged by the Government that they were promoting violence for the overthrow of the present Government by the so-called "Fifth Column" methods. Government have accused the detenus of spreading Communistic views. As far as my knowledge goes, all the detenus recently arrested do not hold such views. Government should prove the alleged guilt of those arrested to the satisfaction of an independent court and give them opportunities to prove their innocence."—United Press.

BRYLCREEM is the Perfect Hair Dressing. It keeps your hair in good condition as well as in good appearance. It is important, therefore, when you buy to insist on genuine Brylcreem. For your protection every bottle of genuine Brylcreem is sealed with a patent stopper before it leaves the factory. If you see that this cap is unbroken when you buy, you can be sure your Brylcreem has not been tampered with.

When you open a bottle of Brylcreem you will find a ring of metal becomes detached from the cap and falls around the neck of the bottle. If you find the cap thus broken already — refuse to accept it.

July Liquidation On N. Y. Cotton Exchange

SOUTHERN AND HEDGE SELLING

Wall-Street And Professional Buying

Bombay: July 10.

As explained recently the New York Cotton Exchange is passing through a state of readjustment. Higher premiums for near months are now disappearing with the approach of new crop arrivals. The market is lacking buying urge.

The market on Tuesday fluctuated listlessly awaiting new developments. The market opened barely steady and there was renewed July liquidation.

About 1,000 bales tenders were issued and naturally there can be no hedging facility at the spot basis. the market ruled easy under hedge and Southern selling. The selling pressure met price fixing and Wall-Street, local and professional buying.

Finally there was spot house liquidation and with further weakness of July the market closed quiet.

July opened unchanged at 9.85, which was the highest level. Later on there was persistent selling and liquidation and quotation declined 25 points at 9.50, which was the lowest level. This decline narrowed differences and October was 9.33. Now it appears that the adjustment has run its course but spot cotton prices will have to fall in line with futures. But much depend upon Government loan announcement. The market closed at a net decline of 23 to 7 pts. Spot cotton prices declined 12 pts at 10.48c per lb.

NEW ORLEANS MARKET

The New Orleans cotton market eased on increased selling in July option and closed at a decline of 22 to 3 pts. Spot cotton prices closed unchanged at 10.50c per lb.

LIVERPOOL MARKET

The Liverpool cotton market opened at a decline of 3 pts with October 7.09. The market was narrow but scarcity of contracts was the chief feature. There was trade calling and local profit taking. The market closed at a rise of 3 to 2 pts. Middling American spot cotton prices declined 3 pts at 7.79d. per lb.

EGYPTIAN COTTON

Egyptian Cotton Section was steady and Uppers futures closed 9 to 2 pts up while Giza futures gained 4 pts.

BOMBAY COTTON

Bombay: July 10.

There is a decided change in the general sentiment and although cotton prices are improving, the market is still cautious over European developments.

Recently the market was supported by professional operators and there had been some buying believed to be of a straddle nature by a foreign firm. This demand is mainly responsible for the improvement in prices. New crop months are purely a speculative enterprise and we may once more say that these new crop months have no connection with spot cotton situation.

The lessons of undue rise attained in last January are still fresh and in the absence of active export demand it will be advisable to buy only on weak spots.

Following a decline of 7 pts in New York cotton futures, the local market was expected to open at Rs. 184/8 for Broach A/M delivery and the market opened at Rs. 184/8 and improved to Rs. 187 under moderate buying. The market being narrow small buying or selling is having more effect on the price level. There was nothing interesting from Eastern countries and the tone of the market was steady. There was scattered selling and prices declined to Rs. 185/8. The market steadied at this level with a restricted business.

The market was fairly steady with scattered buying and A/M was quoted at Rs. 186/8. Liverpool opened 2 pts down and Broach was quoted at Rs. 185/8. Later on there was active buying on reports of commercial treaty with Japan and silver will be imported here from Japan against payments of cotton. These reports hardened prices to Rs. 190.

The market closed at 5 p.m. as under:—

Yesterday London Gold was unchanged at £8/8/0. Dollar Sterling cross rate was 4.02½ to 4 03 1/2 at London and 3.77 3/4 at New York.

London spot Silver prices were unchanged at 21 11/16d and forward quotation was lowered 1/16d at 21 9/16d. There was little speculative selling in forward and business was small. The tone of the market was quiet but steady.

New York spot Silver was unchanged at 34 3/4 cents. Shanghai T T on London was quoted 3 3/4.

London Bombay spot silver parity was Rs. 57/9 and forward parity was Rs. 57/4/6.

In the local market there was increased selling mostly tired liquidation in silver which accounts for the decline in price. Gold was also quiet.

The local bullion market is mainly influenced by war news and there being nothing fresh the market is marking time with a limited business.

Quotations were as under:—

Ready: Gold Rs. 41/11; Silver Rs. 62/5

BOMBAY STOCK EXCHANGE

Bombay: July 10.

In the absence of any important War news the local Share Bazar ruled quietly steady. Business was restricted and fluctuations were narrow and dealers were cautious awaiting fresh developments.

The Wall-Street market was idle and narrow, closing steady with minor gains predominating. Meanwhile interest is focussed on the forthcoming Democratic National Convention. U. S. Steel shares and Anaconda Copper Mining shares closed unchanged at 51 1/2 and 19 1/2 respectively.

Reports from the Cloth Market continue discouraging and in the absence of domestic demand the Textile Industry is unable to show better progress. Thus there is less desire to buy Cotton Mill shares which are grinding around present levels.

The Steel Industry is a hopeful spot and operators are anxiously awaiting annual report of the Tata Steel Co. Ltd. The expected dividends are likely to be satisfactory and recently there had been fairly active buying in Steel shares from professional quarters. But in view of war uncertainty at higher prices there appears moderate selling and Defds are maintained around Rs. 1750 level. Ordinary shares were steady at Rs. 537.

Bank shares were steady with a slightly improved demand. Hydro shares were firm with active buying.

Ireland To Be Next Battlefield

Fear Of Invasion And Counter-Invasion

DUBLIN, July 9.

"The next great battle of the war may be fought out on Einean territory", declared Mr. Sean Lemass, Minister for Supplies, broadcasting to-night.

MR. LEMASS ADDED, "WE ARE IN THE WAR AREA. IT IS TRUE WE HAVE PROCLAIMED OUR NEUTRALITY AND MADE KNOWN OUR DETERMINATION TO DEFEND TO THE FULL LIMIT OF OUR MAN-POWER, BUT THESE DECLARATIONS WILL NOT MAKE US IMMUNE FROM ATTACK. AN INVASION WILL BE RESISTED, AND APART FROM OUR OWN EFFORTS, MAY PRODUCE COUNTER INVASION WITH THE RESULT THAT ON OUR TERRITORY THE NEXT GREAT BATTLE OF THE WAR MAY BE FOUGHT OUT.

If that should happen, it is inevitable that many parts of the country may be isolated for long periods and it is therefore necessary that in every area that this applies, essential foodstuffs on the spot should be sufficient to meet the needs of the local population, enlarged, possibly, by refugees from other areas.

PASSENGER TRAIN ROBBERY

Guard Gives Graphic Details

LUCKNOW, July 10

Details of the mail robbery committed last night when the Lucknow-Moghalsarai passenger was stopped were narrated by Driver Kid of that passenger train who returned by the Up Calcutta Mail swathed in bandages.

Driver Kid stated that as soon as the train was stopped by miscreants who pulled the alarm chain about forty young men armed with revolvers and lathis alighted from the train and surrounded it on both the sides and attacked the R.M.S. van, the drivers and the guard's compartment. The dacoits asked the passengers to keep quiet on pain of death. One group of dacoits attempted to hit a fireman and when he (Kid) came to his rescue the dacoits pounced upon and belaboured him mercilessly. Thereafter the dacoits decamped in darkness with a booty which included insured covers worth about Rs. 2,000. Before leaving the train free the dacoits attempted to rifle cash safe in the R.M.S. van but they did not succeed.

Vigorous police investigation is proceeding. No arrest has been made so far.—United Press.

Dacoits Stop Train And Decamp With Mail Bag

BENARES, July 10.

A mail robbery is reported on the East Indian Railway Lucknow Fyzabad Mugalsarai passenger train between Babatpur and Khabispur stations near Benares.

Details are lacking but it is stated that the train was stopped by means of alarm chain and the dacoits who were waiting on both sides of the line fired pistols and entered the R. M. S. van and decamped with the mail bag.

The amount of money robbed is not yet known. The train was delayed by an hour. The police and the Postal Department are investigating.—

It is understood that the mail van of 70 Down Passenger Train between Lucknow and Moghulsarai was looted near Khabispur and Babatpur stations at about 9-15 p.m. yesterday. Considerable loss of cash and other valuables is reported.

Company Of Indian Mule Transport Missing

Assumed To Have Been Captured By Nazis, Being Caught In Rear Of Maginot Line

SIMLA, July 10.

The Government of India regrets to announce that No. 22 A. T. Company of the R.I.A.S.C. is reported missing, and must be assumed to have been captured, says a press 'communique.'

The Company formed a part of the Mule Transport Contingent of R.I.A.S.C. which joined the B.E.F. in France last December.

At the time of the German advance, No. 22 A. T. Company was in the Metz area in the rear of the Maginot Line.

Arrangements were being made with the French for its evacuation by train, but the rapidity of the German advance presumably forestalled the movement. Metz was invested by the enemy on or about June 17. All other units of the Indian contingent with the B.E.F. have reached England safely.—A.P.

French Attempt To Scuttle Liner Foiled

PROMPT BRITISH ACTION AGAINST 30,000-TON SHIP LOADED WITH AMMUNITION ... ...

NEW YORK, July 9.

The Associated Press says quick action by British authorities, it is reported, thwarted the efforts of the crew of the 30,000-ton French liner "Pastear" to scuttle her at anchor in the Bedford basin near Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Reliable persons said, according to the agency, that armed Britons forced their way aboard the "Pastear" just in time to close the seacocks and there was some scuffling with the crew but no gunfire.

Eyewitnesses added that on the following day, the "Pastear" was lying in Halifax dock discharging munitions with which she had left New York.

BOMBAY, July 10.

Mr. V. D. Savarkar, President of the All-India Hindu Maha Sabha, in the course of a statement to the Press says that until the next meeting of the Working Committee of the Hindu Maha Sabha which will probably be held in the second week of August the policy chalked out by the resolution of the Working Committee passed at Bombay on May 19 last holds good and the Maha Sabha as an organisation cannot extend active co-operation with war efforts till the Working Committee meets again and arrives at a final conclusion regarding the question in the light of Government attitude towards its demands which will be fully clarified by that time.

Mr. Savarkar adds that it should be noted however that the standing resolution referred to above leaves the members of the Hindu Maha Sabha free to co-operate in their individual capacity and discretion with any military war efforts in particular on the part of Government which are genuinely meant to defend India against foreign invasion or internal anarchy, provided always that they are in no way detrimental to Hindu interests.—United Press.
